InSight™ to the East European High Technology Marketplace

The Latest News From Eastern Europe

EAST EUROPEAN REPORT™ provides insight to the East European High Technology marketplace. Published in Europe by Future Horizons, an independent High-Technology Executive Support Company specialising in the worldwide microelectronics industry and the European marketplace, East European Report™ provides commentary on important events in the East European microelectronics industry and marketplace. Each month it reports and analyses news on marketing and technology trends that can bolster your strategic planning and sales efforts in Eastern Europe. Topics covered include forecasts, production, end-use consumption, business activity, government and economic issues, and company operations. Each report includes bulletins on key events in the East European marketplace together with a special analysis on the various facts and our opinion on their significance. East European Report™ provides a real time view and analysis of the East European microelectronics and electronic markets, industry and technology as the change occurs. In addition to the monthly news bulletins and analysis, each report includes a monthly research editorial.
