Future Horizons was first to predict:

- 2017’s Market Rebound ... Our Jan IEF2017 forecast was for 11% growth, with a 16% upside, when all other predictions were in the 3.3% to 7.2% range

- $400b Chip Market ... Our May 2017 newsletter

- 20%+ 2017 Growth ... At IFS2017-MT, when all others forecasts were still in low double-digits

This year our forecast is 16% growth

All others forecasts are again much lower (3.3%-7.8%)

Get The Proven Experts' View Future Horizons

Established in 1989, Future Horizons provides a range of semiconductor market research and business support services. Together with its wholly-owned Moscow-based subsidiary, East-West Electronics, Future Horizons is the world's leading authority on the Russian and East European electronics market.

It was also a member of the 1994 European Commission sponsored Cornu Panel of senior industry executives responsible for publishing the "Report of the European Microelectronics Panel" used to help formulate a strategy for future EC microelectronics support in Europe, and undertook a justification analysis for the European governments for both the MEDEA and MEDEA+ programmes.

More recently it co-authored a comprehensive report on the potential 450mm transition and was a key contributor to the EU 10/100/20 initiative and strategy.

Malcolm Penn, founder and CEO of Future Horizons, has over five decades of experience in the semiconductor and electronics industry, and has worked extensively throughout Europe, the USA, the former USSR, Japan and Korea.

Prior to establishing Future Horizons, Mr Penn was Vice President of Dataquest and set up their European semiconductor and other market research activities. Before joining Dataquest, he was Manager of Component Engineering for ITT Europe (now Alcatel) and prior to that held various operations and marketing management positions within the ITT SC worldwide group.

Get The Inside View At IFS2018

The semiconductor industry is a volatile business where insights, experience and professionalism are key. Strategically timed, the January Market Update summarises and presents the extensive research capability of Future Horizons industry analysts. Giving you the information to confidently plan for the future. Now in its 29th year, Future Horizons' twice-yearly forecast events are a vital link in our charter to provide the industry with high quality, cost effective, market research. Whether a seasoned veteran or industry newcomer, this event is invaluable to executives from the semiconductor, electronics and related industries. Delegates will receive copies of all the material presented in both binder and electronic format.

Why Attend?

- o Hear an independent assessment of the world economic outlook
- o Get clarification of what is expected to happen in the industry for the coming months and beyond
- o Understand the industry cycles and their effect
- o Review industry outlook for the next one to five years
- o Identify key application and technology issues and trends
- o Update statistics and analysis for internal company decisions
