

Maria Marced

TSMC Europe

Powering Through The Recession With Innovation

Vendors today are faced with many new and exciting opportunities; semiconductor technology accessibility drives innovation and guarantees competitive advantage. However margins are reducing and technology is increasingly expensive. Sharing the development cost is the only way to preserve margins - collaboration reduces waste, feeds innovation and aces the competition.